ridiculous. Three weeks ago I resigned because my health demanded it, but the congregation refused to accept my resignation. A meeting will have to be called now to consider it."

The rector has had three hearings before Magistrate Corrigan, in the Tombs Police Court, and will have another in February.

The incident has split the Bedford Park Church. The Miller family were among the founders of the church, and many friends have gathered around them in the fight against the rector. It is said the charges were made against

Mrs. Miller after some youthful aimsteur detectives had been put to work.

A. E. Miller, husband of the target of Mr. Triplett's alleged attack, said today:

"I have heard of the resignation and retraction, but I don't consider either or both sufficient vindication. The matter has gone too far for a mere pulpit admission to settle. The good name of my wife must be properly vindicated and such vindication can only be obtained in court."
